Release Date: January 11 2017

Want lower energy bills in 2017? Then choose Lincolnshire Energy Switch

Do you want lower energy bills this year? Then register with the Lincolnshire Energy Switch Scheme and see if you can save hundreds of pounds.

Residents can register online for possible lower gas and electricity bills at www.lincolnshire.gov.uk/switch

Last year the average for all households that switched suppliers through the Lincolnshire Energy Switch was over £250 each.

So why not take advantage of a similar huge saving this year and particularly whilst the weather is cold?

Simply have your annual gas or electric statement or bills covering the last 12 months to hand when you register.

Once the registration period is complete, energy suppliers will compete with their best offers at an auction. You'll then be sent an email or offer letter stating the potential savings you could make.

There's no obligation for householders or businesses to accept their personal offer and it's as simple as you checking if the offer the energy provider gives you beats your current deal.

If it does, switching from your existing energy provider could not be more straightforward with the new provider taking care of the entire process.

The scheme is organised by Boston Borough Council, City of Lincoln Council, East Lindsey District Council, Lincolnshire County Council, South Kesteven District Council, North Kesteven District Council and West Lindsey District Council and is administered by the UK's leading collective switching expert, iChoosr Ltd.

Lead officer for the councils Karen Lond said: “Is reducing your energy bills a New Year’s resolution? Now’s the perfect time to review your energy bills.

“Start the New Year by registering with the Lincolnshire Energy Switch. Thousands of residents have made the switch in recent years and are now enjoying more money in their back pockets thanks to lower gas and electricity bills. Make sure you join them in 2017!”

If you’re not able to register online, you can do so offline at your local council or by calling 0800 048 8439.
